NEW YORK CITY — Avenue Antiques & Art at the Armory Show has added new dealers and a program of special lectures it upcoming, which is open to the public March 10–13 at the Park Avenue Armory. The show opens at 4:30 pm on Wednesday, March 9, with an invitation-only preview and cocktail party on the floor of the Park Avenue Armory. The evening will also benefit the New York School of Interior Design by honoring interior designer Mario Buatta.

New dealers include Gavin Spanierman Ltd, Newel, LLC, John Jaffa Antiques, Linda Bernell Gallery, Rumi Galleries and Marilyn Garrow Fine Textile Art. They will join more than 40 dealers specializing in art and antiques, including French, Italian, English and Swedish furniture from the Seventeenth Century through Midcentury Modern, silver, Russian antiquities, Asian textiles and art, vintage and fine jewelry.

The calendar of special lectures include a designer breakfast panel discussion on Thursday, 10 to 11:30 am. "The Influences of Mario Buatta" will be moderated by Judith Gura, design history area coordinator of the New York School of Interior Design.

Panelists include Gura, Barbara Ostrom, Scott Salvator, Guy Regal, Susanna Salk, Mario Buatta and Todd Romano.

On Friday, 10 to 11 am, the designer breakfast panel discussion will explore "Decorating With Antiques in the Modern World," moderated by Today Show contributor, author and design expert Susanna Salk. Panelists include Salk, Maureen Footer, Campion Platt and Victoria Hagan. RSVP for either event at designerbreakfast@manhattanmedia.com.

The Royal Oak Foundation Lecture from 4 to 5 pm on Friday is titled "Tartan Tales: Stories from Historic Scottish Houses." It will be presented by Curt DiCamillo, executive director, National Trust for Scotland Foundation, USA, in the Park Avenue Armory Show Lecture Room. On Saturday, from 3-4 pm, the Royal Oak Foundation Lecture will be "Mirror, Chrome and Gin Fizz: Art Deco in Britain," presented by Emily Evans Eerdmans, author, design and decorative arts historian. RSVP for either of these events to royaloaklecture@manhattanmedia.com or call 646-442-1626.

Show hours are Thursday to Saturday, 11 am to 7:30 pm;

Sunday 11 am to 5:30 pm.

Admission is $20. This is the first of two Avenue shows to be conducted at the Armory in 2011. The next one will be September 21–25.

The Park Avenue Armory is at 643 Park Avenue at 67th Street. For information, www.avenueshows.com or 646-442-1627.
